Apple Matching Gifts Program

Check Eligibility. Show details

Eligible: Employees paid from Apple's or its designated affiliates' W-2 payroll

Not eligible: Interns, flexible workforce employees, independent contractors, consultants, and temporary agency workers

Increase your charitable giving through the Apple Matching Gifts Program. Through this program, Apple supports your generosity by matching your contributions of money or volunteer time to eligible charities.

When you give money to a qualified charitable organization, Apple will match your gift one-for-one. There's no minimum donation amount or limit on the number of donations per year, and Apple will match your volunteer time and monetary donations up to a total of the local currency equivalent of US$10,000 per calendar year.

When you spend your time volunteering for an eligible organization, Apple donates US$25 to that organization for each hour you volunteer.

How the program works

Benevity administers the Apple Matching Gifts Program. Visit the Employee Giving portal to request a matching donation for your volunteer time or to make a one-time or repeating monetary donation to the charitable organization (or cause) of your choice using a credit card or PayPal account. You can also request a match for a monetary or stock donation you've already made.

When you make a donation to a US-based organization through the Employee Giving portal, your donation is processed immediately and your funds (along with the matching funds from Apple) are distributed within 60 days. When you request a matching contribution for your volunteer time or a monetary donation you made to an eligible US-based organization outside the portal, the matching funds from Apple are distributed within 60 days of your request.

When you make a donation or request a matching contribution on the portal through the "International Giving" option, timelines for the donation and match distribution may be longer, because a minimum donation threshold of US$250 for any given charity must first be reached before funds are distributed. See the FAQ on the Employee Giving portal for more details.

Donations and Apple matching contributions are made through a foundation fund based in the United States, and then distributed to your chosen organization.

Contact your own tax or financial advisor for questions regarding the tax, financial, or other implications of making a charitable contribution.

Types of eligible donations

To be eligible, your monetary donations must be:

- Made from your personal funds or a charitable gift fund in your name
- Given to a qualified organization or cause (see below for details)
- Donated through the Employee Giving portal or submitted as a match request along with an electronic receipt within 12 months of the date of your donation
- Paid in full — not pledged — via cash, personal check, credit card, PayPal, or Apple stock. You can only use your credit card or PayPal to make direct donations on the Employee Giving portal.

To be eligible, your volunteer time must be:

- Worked while employed at Apple and while eligible for the program
- Completed in the past — not planned, pledged, or promised
- Completed within 12 months of the match request
- Performed at an eligible organization (listed on the Employee Giving portal)

Types of donations not eligible for a matching gift

- Gifts, donations, volunteering, or payments for primarily political or religious purposes
- Donations of money or time made to community trusts or similar organizations, including charitable remainder trusts, or family foundations
- Donations or volunteer time made in lieu of tuition payments
- Fees or volunteering for service or tuition payments
- Membership fees or volunteering for which benefits are received
- Dues to or volunteering with alumni or similar groups
- Subscription fees for publications
- Insurance premiums
- Bequests or life income trust arrangements
- Gifts of real estate or personal property (other than Apple stock)
- Cumulative donations of money or volunteer time from several individuals reported as one contribution

There are other types of contributions that may not satisfy the Apple Matching Gifts Program eligibility requirements. Apple reserves the right to determine donation eligibility and whether a gift will be made based on organization eligibility.

Qualified organizations

Apple can match eligible donations of time or money to US-based nonprofit organizations or charities that carry a 501(c)(3) tax status or equivalent. When you donate through the "International Giving" option, this includes international organizations with programs operating in multiple countries throughout the world.

In all regions, the causes listed on the Employee Giving portal have been prequalified as eligible. If your preferred cause is not listed, you can nominate it. Nomination requests will be reviewed and, if approved, the cause will be vetted. Successfully vetted causes will be invited to accept the Apple certification terms required to receive an Apple match. The vetting process for causes outside of the United States can take several months.
